

some imaginations about paradise.

Imagine your soul is taken in a journey to the skies and other galaxies in the way.

Imagine the place before paradise doors that it is white floored and as the sky look from an airplane window, and you enter from one of the big doors and you get inside.

Imagine that after the entrance there is a white floored place and it is like an airport entrance, cars in and out, people bringing their relatives and close ones, so your self-driving car comes to pick you up, you enter your car and it takes you to your house, all is paradise, in the way home, maybe every paradise and city has its own distinct sky color, you look through the window and you see beautiful views through the journey to your house there.

You enter your house and its beautiful, you make a fast checkup and then you make a cup of coffee.

And really until the first cup of coffee in paradise. So your new handheld devices are on the table. You take your tablet and look for the first time at the paradise map in the maps application.

On the maps app you find the properties you own there, for example maybe you will have a villa in your paradise city, and a house in a higher paradise, then a flat in even a higher one, a small flat after. So the higher in paradise, the smaller property you have, for more exclusivity.

All properties you have there are a gift from The Creator. Imagine also you have there a farm with football fields, a small one, and a medium sized one and a standard big one. Imagine you can train yourself on shooting techniques on the goal net, and the ball comes back to you each time you shoot it, for more training. Imagine that you can schedule with friends for them to come to play some matches in the field. And every time you accept an invitation to a friendly match with friends, it pops to the calendar app and you get a notifying reminder that you must be at a certain farm football field after let's say one and a half hour and so on.

Imagine that after all citizens of paradise enters it after the day of resurrection, an announcement says that the football leagues will start in two years, so to get ready physically and mentally to the competitions and football clubs recruitment.

Imagine that the ones that entered paradise earlier, they bring their close ones from the door of paradise. They get a notification on their phones that a close one will be at a certain door of paradise after two hours for example. They choose to bring that person and its added to their schedule.

Imagine you bring a friend every now and then, You comfort and entertain their way home. Also imagine a close one that is already there, comes to pick you up from the door.

Imagine after entering your house there, you hear the laughs of joy of the neighbors.

Imagine that while standing near your the big parking of your house, that your prayers are fulfilled as asking The Creator for a red cabriolet car, that it comes from the sky and lands slowly next to you. Or imagine that a number of perfume bottles land on your garden table as you prayed sitting there.

Imagine that while sitting at your living room at night, you decide to go to a remote beach alone, so you enter your cabriolet car and drive to a viewing hill at the sea, and you swim for an hour and a half. You get out of water and by blessings that your clothes get dry in a minute.

Imagine that gaming is unlimited in paradise, that you finish a game's story mode, game titles one by one, unlimitly. Even the one's they were not made in our lifetimes or after.

Imagine also that writers that enter paradise, that they write and their new books are released each year. So you can read nice thriller books for example, each time of any year, as in life.

Imagine that you have a creativity room at your house, and your askings for a talent is fulfilled, and your talent grows with experience.

Imagine the nights and days there, how beautiful they are, imagine that people there drink a cup of coffee each morning at their houses, and a cup of tea each sunset.

Imagine family gatherings each Friday at the father's place. and one certain Friday of each month at the grandfather's place.

Imagine you enter paradise early and you make the first three days for visiting the closest one's. Imagine visiting your uncle for example at an evening and you drink with him a cup of tea with mint.

Imagine that in paradise, one of the gatherings at your grandparent's place, a historic singer is invited, a musical night.

Imagine getting back to your villa at an evening, after a long day and you go to the upper floor terrace then entering a hot water tub overlooking on the city. And as the first minutes enjoyment in this live's hot tub, there in paradise enjoyment is for hours. And it is safe there.

Thank you for reading.

We enter paradise by believing in The Creator and by doing good deeds.

May The Creator put us in his paradise.